Changes not incorporated into the October 2019 Boundary-Line update

Residual Statutory Instruments (SIs) and non-SIs

Boundary-Line only represents the boundaries that are currently operational; future dated or unsigned SIs will not be included. This ensures that the boundary information currency is correct at the time of the dataset release.

SIs that are operational in May and or October but signed off too late for inclusion in the May or October products would be included in the next suitable release.

Boroughs

Previously, the reference to boroughs has not been included in the Boundary-Line product. In striving to improve the product, and at the request of the end users, the inclusion of a reference to the boroughs will enable users to search within their GIS and locate them more easily. This addition was introduced in October 2006.

These additions only apply to England and affect the districts that have been granted Charters of Incorporation (Col), unitary authorities that have been created from previous districts with Col and metropolitan districts that have borough status. The tables below identify where _ (B) has been added to the file name and (B) to the boundary data. This addition does not affect the structure or specification of the product and will not impact on your GIS or translation software.
